

Recognizing Colorado Companies to Watch from Boulder

October 19, 2023

In 2009, the Governor of Colorado initiated an annual Colorado Companies to Watch award program to recognize second-stage companies with high potential for future growth.

Each year from more than a thousand nominations, only 50 small businesses in the state are selected for the award each year. Since the program began, 129 of the businesses named Colorado Companies to Watch have been from Boulder, reflecting the city's strength in innovation and entrepreneurship.

In 2023, Colorado Companies to Watch honorees from Boulder include:

Ascent CFO Solutions

Cultivate

NULASTIN

Roofnest

These four Boulder businesses represent a wide range of industries and are among the most visionary, innovative, successful, and impactful entrepreneurs in the state.

These businesses exemplify creativity, innovation, and entrepreneurial spirit and support the community with the jobs and economic opportunity they provide, expenditures they make, and local taxes they pay.

The City Council of the city of Boulder, Colorado extends our gratitude for the many contributions these businesses make to the local community.

Aaron Brockett, Mayor
